Glass Management

A vehicle's windscreen is far more than a simple piece of glass to keep the wind and rain out. Your windscreen actually represents up to 30% of your vehicle's structural strength. Most of today's vehicles also include ADAS (Advanced Driver Assistance Systems), technologies designed to enhance and improve both driver and vehicle safety.

Yet no matter how careful you are in your driving style, chips or cracks can appear in your vehicle's windscreen or windows – and even a small crack can soon turn into a big issue. By looking after your vehicles' glass correctly, you can make sure you don't compromise your drivers' safety.

Our Glass Management Service is available as part of your contract or as a standalone fleet management service – and you only pay if and when you need it. When you do use the service, you'll benefit from our trusted supplier preferential rates, as well as our technical expertise.

Fast, competitive, and compliant, we handle everything from requesting quotes to managing repair work, helping you keep your employees moving and freeing you up to focus on what matters most.
